Italy in September

September is the time of cooling temperatures, dissipating crowds, and historic festivals. From long running regattas to harvest festivals, horse races, medieval fairs and small-town celebrations of patron Saints. September is also when you find food festivals (sagre) dedicated to the flavours of Autumn: porcini mushrooms, cinghiale, and more. Cities also celebrate their medieval traditions. September 19th is the feast day of San Gennaro.

Ferrara medieval festival takes place from 25th Aug-4th September
